THE Spice People

enrich your life

We are passionate about enriching life. It's not just our motto, it is infused into the way we do things. We do what we can to add that extra bit of spice to life. This is why we are called The Spice People.

Our sole aim is to connect people with spices in an enriching culinary adventure that makes eating fun, interesting and wholesome.

But, more than that, we seek to offer an experience that opens up the cultures of the world at your dinner table. And we've worked hard to make that easily achievable in your home.

Our story began with a small girl who grew up in rural NSW. Her name is Liz, our founder, dreamer and passionate spice evangelist. At an early age Liz learnt the lessons of the land, and how to do things from scratch - the organic way, from the farm to the table. In her late teens Liz moved to the city where she studied Agricultural Science and began her business adventure.

Years later, The Spice People has grown beyond one person, but our passion remains the same. Enriching life is still our motto and vocation - all the way from the land to your table.
